The KOEO Interactive Tool is an application to help with the management of T3 device from Nox Medical (noxmedical.com) and upload of sleep studies.

The main functions of KIT are as follows:

- Set up a T3 device
- Upload sleep test data from a T3 device

All these operations require unrestricted access to the local file system, that cannot be obtained inside a browser-only application. That is why the KIT application is a stand-alone desktop application available for Apple OS X, MS Windows, and Linux.

Installation

Using Google Chrome, the KIT application can be downloaded from the KIT Update site at: https://build.koeo.com/update/current/ The application automatically checks for a new version every time it starts. If it finds a newer version it will attempt to update itself.
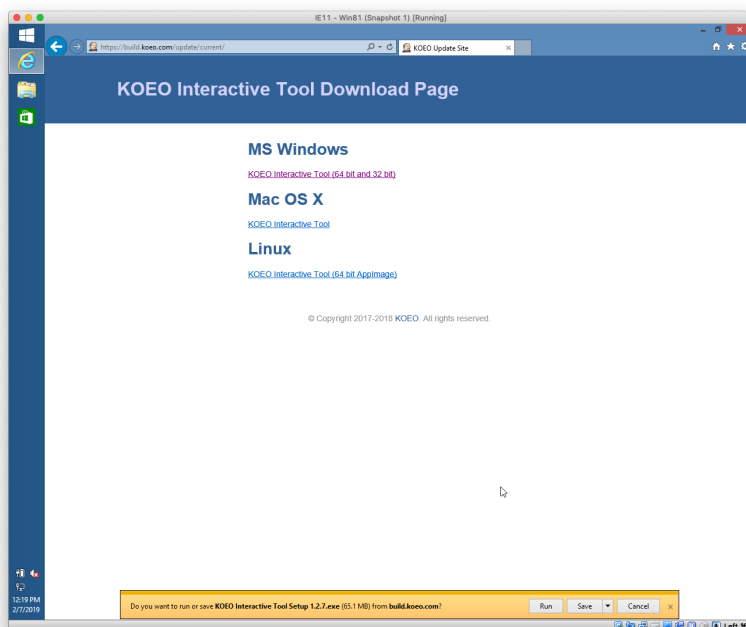

Go to the KOEO Interactive Tool Download Page.
